Comments: I am not a Montana resident, but I come to this area as often as I can to enjoy the beauty and peace of such a great, unspoiled place. The key word here is "unspoiled". The proposed new construction -- I cannot call it "development", because it would not develop but instead degrade the place -- would destroy the scenic and recreational values which the Forest Service has safeguarded here until now. There is a huge difference between the modest Holland Lake Lodge complex and the proposed new version. In this time of increased population pressures and urban sprawl, we need "the solace of open places" more than ever. Please do not allow this crazy idea to go forward.
