Comments: I recently visited MT and Holland Lake. Montana is drawing many new residents and visitors. It's greatest resource needing protection from development driven by greed are its forest s and lakes. More people, boats and cars on trashing lakeshores, polluting lake waters and displacing wildlife cannot be justified by the personal greed of the leaseholders. The Forest Service is tasked and is trusted with preserving our public lands. Don't put the interest of corporate greed over the preservation public lands.

The project is too big for the lake. The cutting of trees and paving of forest floors are too destructive. The serenity of the lake as nature intended will be forever lost. If the lodge can't make it economically with out the enlargement, then cancel the lease.
