Comments: What are the benefits of this expansion? There are articles on Facebook that are stating this out-of-state company is trying to make it a wealthy playground for out-of-staters. How is this going to affect the Montana families that visit the Lake? What are the ecological implications of putting a cement parking lot right in the middle of one of Montana's gems? If you want a parking lot then it's gonna be gravel! We do not need to pave every single piece of land. This company may think they have Montana's best interest at heart but some of the worst things come from the best of intentions. The whole point of going to the lake and being at a cabin is to disconnect from our day-to-day lives. To be out in nature. A large cabin with a cement slab is far from being disconnected. These companies come to Montana for beauty but then want to change every single thing about it. I hope the forest service thinks this through.
