Comments: Holland Lake is a wondrous sight to see. Montana is a wondrous sight to see. As more and more expansion projects such as this continue to crop up, Montana is losing everything that makes it Montana. Holland Lake provides an uninterrupted escape, a breathtaking view, complete relaxation. This will all be taken away with this project. This is just one thread in the tapestry of Montana that is continuing to unravel. Little by little this state is being chipped away at - losing all of the traits and details that make it special. We have to stop and preserve what we have left. We must protect our state.

This has been my home for my entire 25 years, I still have only seen such a small percentage of the beauty this state holds. I cannot imagine living anywhere else. I cannot imagine raising my children anywhere else. But if projects like this continue to steal Montana's wonder, my children won't know the same Montana that I know.
