Comments: The Forest Service wants to allow development of the Holland Lake area to invite more people to discover and enjoy National Forests. This will put more people, more watercraft on the lake and also more people in the woods and trails in the area. Won't be long before the Forest service will begin to complain of "overuse" and will state the need to restrict access. Montana is known as 'The Last Best Place.' Let's keep that distinction that sets us apart from every other state.
