

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/19/2022 4:17:58 PM

First name: Liz

Last name: Young

Organization:

Title:

Comments: So, for many, many years my husband, son and I camped and boated at Holland. What we loved was the closeness to nature, the hike to the falls and the much loved wildlife. If some upgrades are made, the normal Montanan will probably not be able to afford the camping spots, or cabins at the lodge. Same thing was done to Big Sky and now it's not affordable for the middle class person.

Will the Loons still nest, will the deer and chipmunks be around. We've even seen a bear or two. Too much fancy improvements and it all goes away. Makes me so sad. Most Montanans that frequent this area love it just as it is. Fine to make small improvements to the cabins and lodge but you'll price us right out of a place we grew up near and spent summer after summer just enjoying the nature. We don't need some all fancy place. We love it just like it is. Leave it alone. Outhouses and all!