Comments: I lived in Montana from 1993 to 2000, first near Kalispell, then in Helena. One of my favorite places to go--or stop, if I was traveling the Seeley-Swan Highway, was Holland Lake. I went there many times and stayed in the lodge as well. I strongly object to new and larger buildings being built at Holland Lake. It is something of a sacred place. I return to Montana as often as I can, and hope to return to the lake and the lodge as it is.
