Only when the last fish has been caught.

Only then will you find that money cannot be eaten.

There is no reason other than Corporate Greed for POWDR (based in Utah) to be "redeveloping" the existing Holland Lake Lodge and Cabin facilities. The "redevelopment" includes a footprint of buildings that greatly expands the current land use and a drastic expansion of paved parking areas. 200 mature trees are slated to be felled to accomplish this massive construction project. The plans are not to "redevelop" but rather to develop and expand. Essentially, building a Luxury Resort on the waterfront. Please call it what it is and stop gaslighting the citizens of Montana. The USFS approvals for POWDR to destroy this treasured location were fast tracked, failed to allow any environmental impact studies and somewhat oddly hushed. Any construction and/or development for this location should be subject to an appropriate impartial environmental study and be limited to using the existing footprint of buildings. Thank you for the opportunity to comment and please listen to the will of Montana's great residents and not to the whims of a Corporation seeking to cash out at the expense of our environment and the resources of our Treasure State.
