Comments: Living in Montana for 17 years now, I along with others, have seen way too much change happening way too fast. I get it, there is a lot of opportunity here in Montana as of late and many projects have been pushed through without resistance but people here are waking up to the change. Historical places such as Holland Lake are one of the reasons we decided to relocate here. The charm and the back in time feel was and is very attractive for us as a family. Please don't let Holland Lake fall to another Developer/Investment Company only to take advantage of our rich historic history. It's time to tell the Developers to leave us alone and seek opportunity elsewhere. Montana doesn't need to be growing as fast as it is and this will only attract more people to a pristine area that doesn't need all that attraction. We all like our recreation areas just as they are. Thank you!
