Comments: I am extremely saddened to learn about the development plan for Holland Lake, and I fully object to turning this beautiful area into a tourist stop for people who care nothing about Montana and our natural gems. There are very few places in the world where people can enjoy the outdoors without massive development. Holland Lake is currently one of those rarities. There is no reason to development this property other than for the benefit of the few and the pain of the many. The historic buildings do not need to be replaced or added to so that more people can come to Holland Lake. Keep this place as pristine and close to nature as possible so that it is not forever spoiled by more people visiting and ruining the solitude that can be found here.
