Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/21/2022 6:56:33 PM
First name: Sam
Last name: Booher
Organization:
Title:
Comments: The World has finally agreed we are undergoing Climate Change. My understanding is that mean too much heat due to CO2. Thus people are working at ways to remove CO2 One of the big fears is loss of the Amazon Forest (so more cattle can be raised) . My question is should we all be support cutting more North American Forests for toilet paper ? Recognizing those same forests are removing CO2. If it is not too late, I would recommend your telling the President you are supporting his program to remove CO2 by not cutting the Public National Forests. Now if you do not agree, your comment might be that the Forest Fires in California have not had a real impact. We are still removing plenty of CO2. I just offer a lot of people are not going to agree with you. The President is planing 1 Billion trees. I offer he he needs to add the number you are plan to cut. It will only be what ? Maybe another Million trees ? We are all either for fighting Climate Change or supporting it. PS Toiliet paper should be made from Cane not Timber. Maybe some day.