Comments: The massive size and personality of this project are totally out of character for the quiet, wild, and scenic place that is Holland Lake. It would change the character of the entire area, something that Montanans feel strong about and protective of. It reeks of a commercial ski development.

A modernized fix-up to the buildings and infrastructure at the current location of Holland Lake Lodge, with additional room for maybe 30 more guests, would be great and welcome.

Anything as monstrous as this proposal would dwarf the public camping area, and create a negative impact at an already well-used trailhead that enters the Bob Marshall Wilderness.

I stand in opposition to this proposal.
