Comments: I think the expansion of the lodge is a bad idea. Holland lake does not need to draw more visitors to the area. It is a special place as it is, and probably most visitors to the lake are Montanans. Catering to rich folk will change the feel of the lake, roads and hikes in the area. I do believe the areas that currently exist at the lodge could use some remodeling and upkeep. But if large corporations want to exploit Montana maybe they should stick to crowded places like Flathead Lake.
