Comments: Please do not let this "improvement and expansion" occur. There is no way anything man-made can improve this site. Learn from what has happened to other pristine sites that have been "improved" by corporations. They move in and destroy the natural habitat, and lay down miles of asphalt, which destroys natural runoff. They build huge lodges and cabins and soon the lake becomes polluted and fish die. Read the book "Braided Sweetgrass" by Robin Wall Kimmerer instead. Then you realize that people all over the country are trying to recover from these mindless and unnecessary, selfish improvements. If people want to enjoy this lake, let them get a permit and bring their tent and sleeping bag and enjoy it fully so the rest of us can enjoy it too.
