Comments: It seems to me that the scope and impact on the local area/ people needs to be clearly defined. In this case there is a lot of confusion among the public as to what the intent of this out of state developer really is. As a Montanan living near Bigfork, I've seen too many developers submit plans and then grossly violate those permitted plans during the construction phase. At first blush, this proposed development looks like something for wealthy out of state people and not something that locals will be able to enjoy. I am against this development.
