Comments: Holland Lake might be heaven on earth. It is an uncut, undiscovered, gem that does not deserve to have it's beauty contaminated by corporate companies building and taking away from one of the reasons that makes Montana special.

Holland Lake will forever be altered with an eye sore known as POWDR. Now instead of making new memories, I will only be able to look at the old ones, doctored with greed and selfishness of knowing what use to be.

Holland Lake is the embodiment of Montana, "The Treasure State". I'm not sure what the new state nickname will be once we sell away the treasure of the land.
