Comments: Montana is known for our land that we keep safe from the public and from being built on. One of the main reasons I actually have appreciation for our state is because we have protected land that is accesible to the public in way that are only meant for people who want to use the land for what it's meant for: environmental enjoyment. If you allow people to build on this land you are destroying the land, Montana, home for animals, and the true purpose of protected land. If people from out of state want to come into our state to enjoy it, let them do it like the rest of us- in a respectable way by going hiking or backpacking. Allow our land to be the luxury it is. If you allow people to build on our land it will become a joke. Just another place for rich people who only enjoy nature from inside their comfort zone. All I have ever known my home state to be is a place to truly get outside into true nature without any social, domestic distractions. If you allow for people to build on this beautiful lake and land, it would be a complete loss for our state and every local and every nature lover. I have 0 respect for anybody who wants to go forward with this deal. Especially if they are from Montana, they should understand the importance of our land. Thank you.
