Comments: One of the natural beauties of Montana is the amount of land that is left mostly undisturbed. Most of our country is suburb and city, and Montana has so far escaped that. A project like this threatens that. Natural areas are areas of solitude and escape, not lodges and jet skis, and restaurants. It will ruin the entire reason that most of us frequent the area. It starts a trend for our natural land and it is not a trend I support. Keep nature natural, and keep money out of it.
