Comments: Intelligent, informed and caring Americans are sick to death of the turbo-capitalist, anything-goes-for-human-profit business model. Yes, We CAN responsibly SHARE our one and only planet with other life forms, who are equally deserving of habitat and autonomy. In fact, they are far more deserving, because Mother Nature does not abuse and overuse resources and should serve as our role model, not something to endlessly exploit.

All the best to the folks and beloved creatures in the Flathead Forest! Long may they thrive...
