Comments: I agree with the comments made today by Chris Servheen that appeared in the Missoulian (Friday, September 30, 2022). In it, he describes the probable impacts of the proposed Holland Lake project which go far beyond the lakeside development itself. I am concerned about how the project and the people it will attract will negatively effect the surrounding public lands and the wildlife they support. This is especially true for the at risk species such as grizzly bears and lynx. According to Servheen, The POWDR corporation proposal ignores the off-site impacts of the proposed development, which, based on the other developments this corporation runs, will be significant.

This kind of for-profit development is not the way the Forest Service should manage the public's lands. They should reject the proposal out of hand.

Thank you for your consideration,
Anne Greene
