Comments: Holland lake is a special recreation area and important habitat. The current plans call for substantial new construction closer to Holland Lake, increased building footprints - including a 13,000 sq. Foot Lodge, and multiple new hard surface parking lots. While the goal of this development is questionable for many reasons, none of this should be occurring without a serious environmental impact statement being conduct. The WGM Group Master Plan, glosses over environmental considerations: critical habitat, storm water runoff, lakeshore impacts, wastewater system impacts and general degradation of the recreation area. Please do not move forward with this project until further environmental impacts are studied and taken into account.
