Comments: I am against developing Holland Lake Lodge into another Big Sky.

Holland Lake is already developed from what it was in 1972. It was quiet and peaceful, it was a place you could connect with nature and your inner thoughts.

We went to Holland Lake and canoed around every nook and cranny of the lake. It was the first time I heard a loon. Yes, there were loons on the lake in 1972.

Holland Lake belongs to the people of Montana, the people who live here year around, in the good times and the bad times. The proposed development will exclude the average Montanan not only by the price of admission but by the destruction of what makes Montana more than a just a home.
