Comments: Good Day I have visited Holland Lake many times over the years. It's a special place with a beautiful lake, soaring mountains, beautiful waterfall, lush forest, and hiking trails for all levels. The current Holland Lake lodge is minimally visible and blends in nicely with the ambiance of the area.

I am concerned and basically object to the changes proposed by the new owners for the lodge and cabin areas. Specifically there appears to be an excessive amount of tree removal; too much space taken up with "shopping mall" type parking; new cabins and "bunkies" that do not blend in with the scenery and visibly stand out on the shoreline; and the introduction of non-native decorative trees that appear very much out of place in this forest setting. To me, these proposed changes would be an "eye sore" and distract from the peace and beauty of present day Holland Lake.

Thank you, I appreciate the opportunity to comment on this project
