Comments: As a resident of Montana there are certain things that we should never have to decide, the choice between un-developed beauty and greed. Holland Lake has been an unspoiled gem in Montana for centuries and no one should be allowed to disregard its right, to be on this earth without human intervention. Multitudes of species depend on the the lake , and for the humans that are lucky enough to enjoy its beauty, we combine, to stand up against frivolous development so someone can make a buck. Its time that wilderness and undeveloped areas have the say so. That lake and the surrounding area will be here long after we are gone, lets leave it the way, so other generations can enjoy it the way we have. Montana doesn't need another lodge or resort, how about we support the ones that are already here and leave undeveloped areas alone. Thank you for your consideration
