Comments: I have been following the issue for weeks in the press. One of my objections is procedural.

Expansion of this magnitude on FS land should be preceded by analysis of environmental and economic impact that were omitted or curtailed.

Primarily, as a Montanan who has lived some years of my life in other states, I recognize that decisions to develop remarkably pristine locations result in a loss for EVERYONE FOREVER! California traded exclusiveness freely before it recognized the loss of access benefit's impact on the state as a whole. Oregon did the same. Let's not learn those hard lessons all over again here.
