Comments: I am concerned about the magnitude of improvements being proposed at Holland Lake and the impacts it will have on the land, animals, nearby landowners, and the current experience the lake provides. I have lived and/or travelled through much of the country and am disturbed by the lack of undeveloped lakes and mountain areas. It seems so many of these beautiful areas are being exploited by those wanting to make money off of the experience. Which then, in turn, changes the whole experience. It is very hard in this state to find a body of water that hasn't been built up with houses all around it or businesses such as lodges and stores. There is enough of that...we need to keep Holland Lake as it is, where you can still find some peace and quiet on the lake or the surrounding wilderness. Change isn't always good and this is certainly one of those cases.
