Comments: I'd like to add comments to my initial comment. This is not a replacement, but an addendum.

First, you have enough public comment to deny this MDP. I've been a community Organizer for 25 years and I've never seen something so agreed upon. 95% opposed is a remarkable percentage.

Second, with the change in ownership and management through the transfer, I don't think the special use permit is currently valid. There is the additional issue of the additional acreage they tried to slide by. It could also be invalidated this way. If there is an opportunity to not issue any more special use permits and get public comment on positive potentials for the property, like Forest Service management (similar to Ben Rover Cabin, Ford Cabin, etc) I would take this opportunity to make that happen.

Thank you,

Lisa
