Comments: As a lifetime resident of Montana, growing up in Eastern Montana and a student of history of this state, a state which time and time again has been manipulated by out of state companies and rich individuals at the expense of local hard working citizens, soiling the landscape for profit. These companies and individuals always left the state of Montana with their money to their mansions on both coasts. Butte America is a prime example of the wreckage they left. I have now lived in Mission Valley area of Western Montana for 23 years. In the last few years we have seen Flathead Lake basically become the playground of the out state rich. They have built million dollar homes they only use for couple days a year as locals have less and less access to Flathead Lake. Small Town Polson has become a nightmare of traffic in summer. The out state rich have driven home prices to double and rents to triple. To many of us stood by and said nothing to try control the situation and now it's too late. This resort expansion needs to stop or the Holland Lake Area will become Whitefish in few years.
