Comments: As someone who was born and raised in Burien, Washington, I was extremely pleased to hear of this proposal. Having now lived in New York City for the past seven years and spent much time traveling throughout the world, I can safely say the natural beauty of the Pacific Northwest is unparalleled. For this reason, whenever I come back to visit Washington, I always make a point to get out hiking as much as I can, and this wouldn't be possible without the efforts of all those who create and maintain the trails. We must continue this work so current and future generations can all experience the wonders of the landscape around us.
