Comments: I think winter grooming would be awesome!!! As far as chip sealing goes, I think it would be better to simply maintain the dirt. I feel like chipsealing often can be quite vulnerable to massive potholes, and I love having access to dirt where cars are less prevalent. I think paving the road would make it a lot more popular for motorists. I am hugely in favor of downhill specific trails as well. I think this is a great way to prevent negative interactions between trail users, not to mention they would be a hoot.
