*The proposed emergency access (exit) looks like its proposed within th Falls Creek Subdivision. Would other's be allowed to use in in a fire emergency? (it is posted quite prominently that anyone entering past the front of FC sub is trespassing)

*Who is paying for the construction of that road?

*And agian, I could only support this if there was an iron-clad guaranty that the ONLY use would be in case of fire emergencies.

*Many of the mountain bikers who access the log chutes and Junction Creek trails, as well as the Hidden Valley area do so by riding their bikes up from town on CR 204. This is a very dangerous stretch of road for cyclists as well as drivers, and it has continued getting worse as the years go by. I don't belive that it is wise to increase and improve the bike trail systems until Junction Creek Road has a true bike path.

*Rarely have I seen anyone fishing Junction Creek. The creek is often dry or very low, and fishing can't be that great without the ability to fish up and down the creek. It seem like a static fishing platform or pier for disabled folks might be a waste of money which could be better spent providing opportunities elsewhere.
