Comments: Having hiked through Glacier National Park years ago with friends, I am excited about this trail although I am not able to take on a hike like that now. It was once of my most memorable life experiences. We stayed in simple chalets along the way and that made the hike possible so we did not have to carry so much gear and food. I would encourage the possibility of having chalets as part of this plan.

This was a dream experience and very economical for a small group of us who were just beginning our careers and did not have money for expensive excursions. Great exercise too, of course.

What a great undertaking! I am passing this information on to my family of hikers.
