Comments: The Pte Oyate - the Buffalo Nation - deserve the maximum protection and preservation from you. Every time some washichu "hunter" kills one of these People, s/he kills one of us Indigenous. This is fact, not fantasy. Our death rates are far higher than for the other races of humans. Washichu is a Lakota word meaning "a greedy ungenerous person who behaves as if s/he has no relatives". We take care of our relatives, so those who don't are anathema. Not to mention, we ARE all related. We all share our holy mother the earth's bounty. We all breathe the air that surrounds her. We are all made live by the bit of holy Spirit that makes each of us alive. We are NOT just a random collection of electrical and/or chemical interactions. My degrees in chemistry, minor in physics and a large part of my life as a spiritual guide say this is so.

So do everything in your power to protect and preserve the holy buffalo people!

Thank you for hearing me in a good way now.
