Comments: I am a psychoanalyst and a social and environmental critic and activist. I will not attempt to comment biologically here, but you can refer to the comments of Phil Knight and George Wuerthner as representing me in that regard. What I will say is that this project, in today's day and age of habitat loss and human overpopulation ever increasing, it is appalling that the CGNF is proposing such a destructive project, and doing so in the name of science and recreation. Forest and ecosystem health again take a back seat. There is no political or ethical leadership here.
