Comments: I oppose the proposed South Plateau Landscape Area Treatment Project (SPLAT), the U.S. Forest Service is proposing to carve 56 miles of roads into the Hebgen Basin in order to log, bulldoze and/or burn 23 square miles of prime wildlife habitat, extracting over 80 million board feet of timber. That amount of logging would require about 25,000 logging trucks to haul out of the forest.

Hebgen Basin where migratory buffalo roam the National Forest

Please protect this area for wildlife!!! Stop destroying natural habitat. We keep pushing wildlife to the brink of existence.
