Comments: Stop destroying our precious waterways. They are non renewable & will lose their magic if the senseless officials continue sticking their greedy, unethical, destructive fingers in them. There comes a point where the soil can no longer heal itself, where the toxins reach their desired destructive fruition & the willows wither, the grasses shrivel, the water turns grey with death & the fish no longer spawn, they turn their bellies up & rot. Leave the earth as she is so we can continue enjoying our brief lifespans here rather than suffering unimaginable tortures brought on by gluttonous, dull minded, selfish actions. Life is short, why waste it on purposeless destruction? Though it may be hard for self centered individuals to muster the strength to understand the gravity of their actions, we (as a collective, including said individuals) only have one shot at bringing better for the people & planet forth within our lifespans. Stop digging this hellish hole, or everyone is going to end up stuck in it. Become the force to fill it in. Put that in your pipe & smoke it. Additionally, everyone is well aware of the level of manipulation that goes into limiting the time to express our thoughts & feelings, that will no longer be tolerated. Do everyone a favor & extend the period for people to vote against this treacherous, horrific act. Hindering the ability to exercise our freedom of speech is a shameful act, no wonder you garner so much pity & remorse. Cheers!
