Comments: We do not need anymore mt. bike trails in Oregon. They are everywhere like a plague and typically end up using game trails as a starting point from what I have seen. And they do not stay on designated trails one trail quickly becomes many. Don't let mt bikers ruin the ochocos like they have so many other forests in Oregon.. Or you can start charging them for access like the state does for hunters. have them spend hundreds of dollars a year for forest access and have them put in for tags if they want to ride in a particular unit.
