Comments: I am writing to support the construction and operation of a trail system in Lemon Gulch for mountain biking and some hiking. Specifically, I recommend Alternative 2 be selected to provide the greatest dispersal of users on the trails.

Based upon the analysis provided, it seems any impact to threatened or endangered species or any that aren't listed is minimal.

One issue will likely be transient dispersed camping like that experienced in and around trails in the Deschutes National Forest, how will that be managed to reduce this more impactful use of the area?
