Comments: Re. Lemon Gulch Trails: I support any action alternative, but particularly Alternatives 1 and 5, which offer the greatest miles of trail opportunities of the various alternatives. The central Oregon region has a high demand for non-motorized trail opportunities, as shown by the Statewide Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan survey data (Oregon State Parks). Despite this decades long high demand and population growth, the area's Federal land management agencies (including the Ochoco National Forest) have been very slow at developing trail plans and successfully analyzing and implementing them. Critics of this proposal think non-motorized trails will turn Prineville into Bend, but what about all the local residents who have been waiting for decades for non-motorized trail opportunities on the local public lands? I would love to see some more of the road network density on the Ochoco National Forest reduced at the same time non-motorized trails are created. Thank you for working to create local recreational trail opportunities.
