Comments: Clear cutting is not good for anyone, and I don't understand why the Forest "service" persists in using that method in their rape of our forests. All ecological systems are negatively affected--clean water, soil erosion, and real people whose lives and well-being depend on a stable environment. Clear cutting de-stabilizes, throws a wrench into the whole works.

Presumably, clear cutting is perpetrated for the sake of getting more money faster. But, hello, when people's lives and the environment are destroyed, more money is not going to fix that and then the whole community suffers.

Stop clear cutting our forest.
