Comments: Why have you made the budget of the Forest Service more important than Kentucky's citizens and the state of its environment? Why is it okay with you to generate even more flooding, erosion and landslides, and do further environmental damage to our state? July 30, 2022 saw catastrophic flooding in the Jellico area.

Your own slope data shows the high likelihood of further damage, and your soil data shows that the soil of the prospective logging area will not sustain the presence of timber harvest equipment. Past logging has already introduced invasive species. Have you no shame? Why have you not designated this old-growth forest area as protected?
