Comments: Hello, I am Noelle and I'm from the Fox Valley in Wisconsin. I watched the recording of the meeting about the Jellico Logging Proposal, provided by Kentucky Heartwood. The inability of the Forest Service officials to clearly respond to the public was laughable; unfortunately their ignorance could doom healthy forests for generations to come. I would have, naively, thought better of an organization to protect public lands. Thankfully, the public has the opportunity to comment, and hopefully this national reaction will account for something. Leave trees standing. Listen to the community that will be affected by theft of natural areas that are intrinsic to the relation of people and place. Time has shown the consequences of decisions like these. I am literally asking you to put more interest into people than money. Thank you.
