Comments: To whom it may concern,

I stand with the protection of the trees - particularly trees who are living their lives in the forest. I understand that trees are planted for commercial process. The Jellico forest should be left alone. The impact of logging obviously disturbs much more than than meets the eye.

Please leave the forest alone for the upcoming generations to appreciate. Mature forests take many decades to develop and coupled with climate change, it seems unlikely that the mature forest will recover on any expected timeline - if at all. Today's children will never see a recovery.

I am asking you to not disturb the Jellico forest, but to leave it alone to continue to provide the habitats for hundreds of animals, birds, insects and plants. Let it generate fresh air and beauty for all to appreciate.

Thank you and sincerely,
Sandra Hodges
