Comments: I am writing to express my support of the Perpetua project in Stibnite. I have been following this project for some time and was able to speak with a geologist from Perpetua and attend a technical session on the project at AEMA Annual Meeting in Reno this fall, 2022. The project plans to safely and responsibly extract critical minerals in alignment with our country's and the world's mineral needs and environmental concerns. The economic and social impacts are completely positive for the region. They plan to go above and beyond comparable industry practices for site restoration and rehabilitation, and indeed have already completed significant clean up work at the site.
