Comments: Adding more trails to an extremely fast growing industry is important to help space people out and provide more opportunity to all levels of riders. There is always comments around implementing trails and the disruption to the forest and bikes damaging trails, but I believe the bike community has proven that we are viable stewards of the forests and trails and the majority of people are invested in helping support and maintain local trails and help educate about trail and forest etiquette. It would be amazing to see a system of bike trails added to this area.
