Comments: I feel like it's fine, As long as there is no campfires allowed.

That needs to be written into the rules. Grandfather that rule in and the area won't have to worry about changes being made.

We go through enough worrying about forest fires.

There should be strict rules about not allowing expansion to the original parking areas.

It's a beautiful place and it shouldn't be altered. Preservation is key.

Without these rules; it probably isn't a good idea.
