In response to the new trails to be added to the boggy draw trail system "loops". Like the 30 miles or more that are already in place now. The irresponsible addition to more trails from a totally inept forest service management team is to say the least a bad idea. I have lived on the trail system for 15 years now .

The system has reduced the amount of wildlife in the surrounding area significantly. Elk during the summer months are all but non existent and the deer are nowhere near previous levels . And as far as the big cats again mostly gone. There used to be ducks and other wildlife on the ponds at the trail head all you see now are entitled bicyclists.

The mis-management of this trail system and even the thought of adding more trails to a confined area shows the total lack of respect for anybody or anything else other than the entitled bicyclists. Lets not even start with E-Bikes. They continue to add "loops" breaking down escape routes for wildlife and harder for migration paths. The new trails to be added, "loops" will force land owners property to be land based fish bowls as the trails will enclose 3 sides of private property, with all the trails built as close to property lines as possible.

I realize the forest is for all maybe even for the people who actually pay for it . As the majority of the boggy system is the entitled bicycle group that pay NO - Zero registration fees. While ALL other vehicles on the forest are forced to pay registration fees and subject to fines if not complied with.

This ever increasing entitled bicycle group at zero cost to them can reduce property values, Increase traffic and safety issues (riding side by side in the middle of the road) increase fire possibilities, restrict wildlife movements, create an eye sore on the landscape. And in this case eliminate property rights all together. Again at no cost to them.

Along with adding more trail "loops". they are adding parking lots. One to be at the entrance of house creek road . This road is closed early every year for "wildlife management". Let's see let's build a parking lot for more entitled bicycle A- holes to increase traffic on a closed road. For the same people who already have trail access all over the mountain year round day and night, and now private property. Great management skills there forest service You should be proud.
