Comments: I think the USFS should give Perpetua Resources an opportunity to mine the Stibnite region. It is a superfund site and they have already begun investing time and energy toward cleaning up the area. This project will help clean up legacy toxic waste, provide good-paying jobs, and create a domestic supply of Antimony which is used for fire suppression and in Ambri's novel grid storage battery. I urge the USFS to approve this project expeditiously.
