Comments: I have been informed that you are trying to make a decision on a mountain bike trail system in the Ochoco National Forest. This area is in the general use plan and not ment for a development that is as developed as any ski resort. Any type of intense bike trail systems of this sort should actually have an environmental impact study done on it as opposed to an environmental analysis. I think you should step back and reanalyze this proposal. The natural resources in the ochoco National Forest needs to be protected and have the type of stewardship on it as if it were your own. Allowing a few Adrenaline Rush Thrill Seekers to drive the direction of development is unacceptable .the Lookout Mountain Recreation Area has a priority for recreation, so I would like to know why this development wasn't proposed in that area?
