Comments: Prineville is growing, changing, and evolving. Developing Lemon gulch trail system into a vibrant community asset would not only benefit Prineville but the central Oregon community as a whole. A managed well thought out trail system will decrease the impact of ever increasing number of visitors to the ochoco wilderness by concentrating users to dedicated trail areas designed for specific uses and maintained with moderate to heavy use in mind. By creating trails and designated recreational areas, the greater ochoco wilderness can be better managed by creating areas of entry and non-entry instead of the somewhat free for all that exists there currently. I am for the development of the lemon gulch trail system and will continue to support the creation and use of the trail system there.
